

Topic updated on September 21, 2023

Transports

A Transport defines the connectivity details and features, such as store and forward and transport map logging, when initiating a transaction (or request) from a trigger that is destined for an enterprise application. Transports are defined to represent databases, message and queuing systems, TCP applications, ERP applications, and web services.

What's Inside

Creating a transport

Using tabs on the Transport window

Using the Transports tab

Transport types

About Telit | Contact Us | Legal Notices | Terms of Service | Privacy Policy

Copyright © 2025, Telit IoT Solutions Holding Ltd.. All rights reserved.